What appliances can you run with a 4000 watt generator

First, let's get a few things straight: it's very unlikely that your "4000 watt" or "5000 watt" generator will actually generate that much power for any appreciable time, at least not with any reliability. It also won't be able to handle overloads for even a short period of time, because the flywheel is too small. To put things in perspective, the 4KW Lister diesel I used in the arctic weighed 600 pounds, and had a flywheel that weighed over 100.
